Pot rains from sky; plane burned

BELLE GLADE -- Over 400 pounds of marijuana fell on the Glades Monday night when United States Customs chased a suspected dope smuggling airplane through the area.

The occupants of the plane apparently decided to ditch their cargo from the sky before landing. Tuesday afternoon, the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office had officers in outlying areas trying to locate the contraband.

Ten bundles weighing about 35 to 40 pounds each were located by Glades substition officers.

According to Detective Harry Driggers of the Sheriff's Office, Customs, pursuing the airplane in a plane of its own and a helicopter, lost the suspected smugglers east of Belle Glade. The plane was found the next morning on an air strip owned by Seminole Sugar Company.

The plane was intentionally burned by persons who left it, according to Driggers.

He said the occupants of the plane started dumping the load after it left the residential area.

Most of the bundles located were wrapped in brown paper. That bundle was placed in dark plastic bags and taped shut.

The plane was on the Drug Enforcement Agency's wanted list.

It was an Aero Commander which can carry at least 1,500 pounds, according to Detective John Dibatista.

No suspects have been apprehended.

IT NEVER RAINS BUT IT POURS -- The Sheriff's Office in Belle Glade was kept busy Monday, November 15, gathering up bundles of marijuana that fell from an airplane the previous night. Detective Richard Browning numbers bales the authorities found. The airplane was found the next day burned on a runway owned by Seminole Sugar.

Community ministers plan joint Thanksgiving services

The Community Thanksgiving Service for Belle Glade will be held at The Everglades Presbyterian Church, 1040 N. Main and N.W. Ave. K, Nov. 25 Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock with the Rev. Harry Russell, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church preaching.

Mr. Russell's message is entitled "A House on Thanksgiving Street". His scripture lesson is Deuteronomy 8:7-18 and Matthew 26:26-30.

The choir, under the direction of Margaret Whitlock will sing "His Mercy Endures"; the choir will be made up of members of the Presbyterian and Alliance churches.

Dr. David T. Evans, pastor of the host church, will preach the Presidential Proclamation will be read and a special offering for the help the needy and transients will be taken. Dr. Evans explained that the economic conditions of the country are bringing needy to the churches.

The Belle Glade Ministerial Alliance is cooperating with the police dept. and the Chamber of Commerce in helping those that are stranded here. The Rev. Robert Atkins of the First Baptist Church, the Rev. J.B. Adams of St. John's First Baptist Church, the Rev. Aaron Petry of the Worship Center, and the Rev. Buck Cobb, the Church of God of Prophecy are also participating in the service.

Bake sale planned

PAHOKEE -- The Pahokee Church of God Ladies' Ministry will hold its annual Thanksgiving Bake Sale Saturday, November 20.

The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall and the Thriftway in Pahokee.

South Bay to oppose new tax plan

By ALMA HENRY

SOUTH BAY -- The City Commission of the City of South Bay adopted a resolution Tuesday night opposing any changes in the state formula for distributing revenues from the one cent sales tax increase.

Mayor Donald Tanner said the city of Daytona Beach is proposing a change that would cause the amounts of funds to be received by South Bay and other surrounding cities in the Glades to decrease from the anticipated amounts.

Under the present proposal, the revenues from the tax increase would be distributed based on population. The formula proposed by Daytona Beach is one based population, assessed property valuations and the point of collection in distributing the tax revenue.

According to Tanner, cities with large tourist attractions, such as Daytona Beach, Orlando, Miami, and West Palm Beach, would receive greater amounts of the revenue with the new increase.

Cities such as Homestead, South Bay, and Pahokee have gone on record as being against the new proposal.

If the new plan is adopted South Bay allocation would drop 49 percent to $55,687 instead of $109,728.

The City of Pahokee earlier this week also agreed to protest the change. The Pahokee City Council agreed to send a letter to the Florida Department of Finance and Taxation in support of the current distribution formula.

If the Daytona Beach plan is accepted Pahokee would get 42 percent less or $107,742 instead of $155,431.

The Belle Glade City Commission discussed the proposal at its regular bi-monthly meeting on Nov. 8, but took no formal action.

City to reopen airport studies again?

BELLE GLADE -- The Belle Glade City Commission will be looking into the suggested improvements to the airport in the near future, if Mayor Thomas L. Altman has his way.

Earlier this year, the commission held a workshop on the airport and referred the plans to the study of then City Manager Wolfe Wagner.

Since then, the plans have been gathering dust while Wagner found a new job out of state and moved.

A request by S.N. Knight and Sons to build a hangar and self-fueling facilities reminded the commissioners of the plans and Monday night, November 8, Mayor Thomas L. Altman asked the staff to find the plans and any work Wagner may have done on them for future discussion by the commission.

The plans discussed at the summer workshop meeting included a proposed drawing of the layout of the airport, with agricultural operators placed on the north-south runway. A fixed-base operator would be contracted. That operator would have the fuel selling franchise as part of his profit base.

Altman asked whether allowing Knight to have a self-fueling station would infringe on the FBO's franchise, but Remar Harvin, director of city planning, said Knight had expressed an interest in having jet fueling capacities, something the FBO probably wouldn't be interested in because it wouldn't be profitable.

The city commissioners declined to take any action on the request by Knight until they had found out the status of the airport plans and made several policy decisions concerning it.

In the past, packages of vegetables were given to the visiting officials. Those vegetables were donated by local growers, but Belle Glade City Clerk June Boglioli told the group Monday night that it has become increasingly difficult to beg for the contributions in recent years. She asked for other members of the Tri-City League to help in soliciting donations of vegetables.

"What we can't get, we'll have to buy," said Harrelle.

Harrelle Councilman Ronnie Graydon said that

In the past, alcohol has been served to the members of the league who attend the meeting, a tradition that will continue this year, it was decided at Monday night's meeting.

"I don't drink, but I don't have any objection if everybody else wants to get drunk," said Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett.

Bands have also performed at the function, but won't this year. South Bay City Manager Max Harrelle urged the Tri-City League to obtain a jukebox instead, saying it wouldn't be as bothersome as a band.

"I always hoped that some year we'd get unlucky and couldn't get a band," said Belle Glade City Commissioner Charles Goodlett. "I'd like to hear what goes on out there."

Some members of the Tri-City League said they had heard complaints that the bands in the past were too loud and interfered with the conversations at the event.

The volume of a jukebox could be controlled or it could even be turned off if it was too abrasive to the guests, said Harrelle.

The cities are also seeking the use of a boat to give rides to the lake to visiting officials.

Previously, Belle Glade Police Chief D. Bill Mathis had allowed the Tri-City League the use of his house boat for the purpose, but he has sold his boat since the last meeting.

Other members of the Tri-City League will continue. Members of the Municipal League will be permitted to play at the country club golf course free during the day, and camping facilities at the marina will be available to them at no charge.

night, November 15, discussed the annual fete it hosts in December for the Palm Beach County Municipal League.

Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee, the three members of the Tri-City League, host the December meeting of the county-wide organization every year, and have traditionally held a barbecue for those who attend the it.

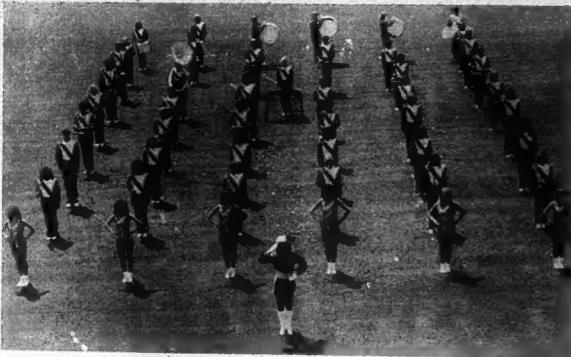

This year, the barbecue is scheduled for December 10.

The County Municipal League is composed of the 37 cities in the county. The Tri-City League usually invites other political and government officials to the meeting, including the county commissioners.

The Municipal League meets once a month, but only the Glades cities host the meeting in conjunction with a barbecue, according to Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman.

"We do it in a style that none of the other cities do," he said.

Glades Day band takes part in UF parade

The Glades Day School Fighting Gator Band, under the direction of Mr. James Bonner, recently traveled to Gainesville to participate in the University of Florida Homecoming Parade.

The Gator Band was one of only twenty-eight high school and junior high bands from Florida and other surrounding states to be invited to march in the annual parade held Friday, October 15.

According to Bonner, the group's two day trip was to "promote interest in band," and to get this year's Fighting Gator Band into the "school spirit." The group left Belle Glade on Thursday afternoon October 14, and spent the night in Gainesville.

They arrived at the University of Florida campus at 9:30 a.m. to organize for the parade which started at noon.

"It was very educational," said Bonner,

"we learned a lot listening to other bands warm up before the parade."

Directly after the parade the band loaded into their bus and was off to King's Academy.

Clewiston Informed Parents have the right approach

Members of the Clewiston Informed Parents (CLIP) have undertaken a drive to bring David Toma to Clewiston to kickoff the campaign to fight drug and alcohol abuse among young people.

Toma spent 20 years on the Newark Police Department and amassed a 98 percent conviction rate. He is considered an expert on organized crimes and drugs.

His career was so flamboyant that he inspired two television series: Toma and Baretta.

Toma is scheduled to come to Clewiston Feb. 1-2, 1983, and will speak to and counsel young people and parents.

The price for bringing Toma to Clewiston is $6,000 and a fund has already been set up at Clewiston National Bank for this purpose.

CLIP members reason that since it costs taxpayers $8,000 a year to maintain one prisoner, that bringing Toma here is well worth the effort.

"Who is the potential abuser? Your children, your grandchildren, my children, our friends' children. Even if Toma only reaches one person, wouldn't it be worth it?" asked CLIP in a fundraising letter dated Nov. 11.

The answer is clearly "yes."

The best part, however, is that the Toma visit is seen only as a start. CLIP members want a permanent drug abuse resource person working in the county with schools, law enforcement officers, the health department, and local government on a long-term basis.

This long-term commitment is what it will take to properly address the problem.

State unrealistic on jail inspections

Some of the improvements the Florida Department of Corrections are calling for at the Glades County Jail don't seem too unreasonable, such as proper lighting and ventilation. An exercise yard is also a reasonable demand, for those who are sentenced to the facility - if not those being held there temporarily while awaiting transportation or a court appearance.

In state demands appear to be unnecessary and some even ludicrous for a county jail which serves primarily as a holding facility. We question the need for a nutritionist and a 28-day menu cycle, for example, if the meals themselves pass state inspection. Perhaps prisoners to be confined there should have medical examinations for the health and well-being of all concerned, including the jailers, but even the law-abiding citizens of Glades County don't have the services of a physician on call.

The bottom line is, of course, the cost to a small county to provide nutritional supervision, medical and certified correctional officers on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and whether the need is sufficient to make the county residents bear the costs.

If the state firmly believes in what is being mandated, it must either provide the funding for mandatory nutrition and Glades to be able to comply or make it a job of building regional facilities to be shared by small counties in an area.

Something is definitely amiss with the school system's standards may have to be lowered because of cutbacks in state funding but the jail must be upgraded with no state funds to help and the county is sentenced to suffer on both counts.

Celebrate Great American Smokeout

Giving up cigarettes is cause for celebration. Every year the American Cancer Society offers smokers a chance to have fun while they're trying to quit. The occasion is the Great American Smokeout, a day smokers around the nation try to go a full twenty-four hours without cigarettes. This year, smokers are invited to put aside their habit...with pleasure...on November 18.

Larry Hagan, the villainous J.R. Ewing of TV's "Dallas," returns for an encore as national Great American Smokeout chairman. Hagan, a reformer smoker, again will invite smokers to follow his example and quit.

This year the Great American Smokeout will celebrate its sixth anniversary and all indications are for another immensely popular day, during last year's Smokeout, 3 out of 10 cigarette smokers either cut down or cut out smoking for the day, according to a Gallup study. Close to 5 million actually quit smoking for the day.

Although 54 million Americans continue to smoke, the number of people who've quit has increased over the years. Currently there are 33.3 million ex-smokers. Reasons to join this group are abundant. Topping the list: smoking causes lung cancer. Presently, lung cancer is the number one cancer killer of men, and may soon be the leading cancer killer of women. Cigarette smoking has been implicated in cancers of the mouth, esophagus, larynx, bladder, kidney and pancreas.

The Great American Smokeout offers millions of Americans a well-deserved holiday...a day off from smoking. That's worth celebrating.

The world scene

The Russians had a state funeral for Leonid Brezhnev Monday. Always wondered what communists did at funerals since they don't believe in God.

When they bow their heads do they pray or just meditate? Or do they just think pure thoughts? Etiquette for a communist funeral should be interesting reading.

Like the war itself, the building of the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington was controversial and long in coming to a conclusion.

This weekend, the monument, listing the names of all of America's Vietnam war dead, was dedicated.

The monument proves that America's shameful treatment of its Vietnam veterans is at least being corrected.

We now know that the American army in Vietnam was probably the finest this country has ever fielded. The only problem was that we got ourselves into a war that we didn't intend to win.

The harm that resulted to many who fought that unpopular war can probably never be repaired.

But there are indications that the country is coming to grips with those traumatic events.

One more indication of this is the scheduled laying to rest of the unidentified remains of a Vietnam war casualty in the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery.

Letters

Editor:

Early the next morning after the Nov. 2nd election, near the Hendry Co. Courthouse in LaBelle, there appeared two mock graves depicting two losers of a very close election in a most obnoxious manner. While no one has claimed responsibility for this hideous deed, even terrorist groups around the world accept credit for these grisly acts! That is worse than kicking a person while they're down!

Also, there were letters written to some of the losers, and others, in the same gruesome vein, but with no signature!

In my humble opinion, those who commit such hideous acts without accepting responsibility for them and those who write such letters without signing them are either yellow, ashamed of what they do, too ignorant to realize what they have done, or all of the above.

Vincent Robbins

Dear Jim:

Just taking a minute to tell you I thought your "Pie in the Sky" editorial was real good. I attended Clewiston Industrial Workshop the week before last and thought it was too bad, however, that there was no audience.

I am looking forward to the first session on November 18 and will be encouraging Glade's Chamber members to present the program here.

I do agree, Jim, it takes planning and foresight, but what I wouldn't do for just a tiny piece of that:

We solicit and encourage letters to the editor.

Our guidelines are simple:

- ✓ No libelous content.
- ✓ Letters should be relatively brief — no more than 300 words as a general rule.
- ✓ Signatures are required.
- ✓ No poetry, please.

Equal Rights Amendment supporters had hoped to make up lost ground in the recent general election.

But it appears that women went down to defeat in many races and may have emerged in worse shape than before.

But it is interesting because some ERA advocates said they wanted to oust politicians who failed to support the ERA.

The big game of the week

Clewiston High School defeated Ft. Myers 21-0 to improve its football record to 9-0 Friday.

Clewiston is on the verge of attaining its first ever perfect 10-0 season. Only Okeechobee stands in the way this Friday.

One of the things I like about this season is the fan behavior. Last year, they cheered like there might be no tomorrow and their excitement bordered on happy hysteria.

This year, the fans are no less happy or proud. But they seem to realize that winning football at Clewiston High School is not going to be a snap affair.

Now in his sixth year at CHS, Al Morrell has created a winning tradition, if not a football dynasty.

It's a model of excellence that we can all admire and emulate.

Making it in your world or mine

It was a brown plastic leather bag, worth $25 new and maybe $5 used. I carried my camera in it. I left it — empty — lying on the front seat of my parked car and sometime between dusk and dark, somebody stole it.

It's not the first thing I've had stolen in the last ten years. I lost a bike that was chained to a downtown. Cat burglars have relieved me of my pocketbook and all its contents plus some jewelry. And I've had the bloodchilling experience of being ringside during an armed robbery of a convenience store.

Being robbed is a humiliating experience. It's embarrassing for some reason I haven't yet figured out. You feel guilty and gullible — a notion that you're responsible in some way, for being a dupe.

And there's anger, too, that thieves and scoundrels seem to have things their own way in this world, while the rest of us must protect ourselves.

AND WHAT NOT

But what is the world of a thief like, I wonder. Does a thief dream of a perfect world? If so, is one where everything is his for the taking? Would thieves steal from thieves in the best of all possible worlds for thieves?

Or is it the lack of dreams that turns some men into thieves — the inability to dream of a world where people could live without harming one another. A world without fear, without crime, without lack of what makes a life worth living. I can replace the bike, the jewelry, the camera case. And if I couldn't, they wouldn't be worth more than a passing sense of loss.

I can work and enjoy working. Life's comforts are not to be denied, but what I most value can't be stolen: love of family and friends, the joys and beauty that exist, the feeling of accomplishment. Even the feeling of self-worth we call integrity has a value.

In the best of all possible worlds, the thief could, I suppose, be a good man. Wouldn't he have to, I would be willing to give freely of whatever I had.

That makes two of us who aren't perfect in this world: the thief and I. Maybe we'll both make it in the next world. But in my world, not yours, I hope.

A wise choice for city manager job

Tommy Strang has agreed to assume the position of City Manager for Belle Glade next month.

He is retiring from Briley, Wild and Associates on November 19 after twenty years with engineering firm.

The city commissioners' decision to hire Strang was a wise one. Strang will be a welcomed addition to the city administration.

During his 20 years with Briley, Wild, he has spent a great deal of time in the Glades, managing projects that the firm was involved in with the city. He has gotten familiar with the area and its people.

He knows the commissioners and the city employees. His relationship with the policy makers appears to be one of trust.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said Strang can put technical problems and issues into terms that the commissioners can grasp and understand.

We want to welcome Strang to the city and wish him luck in his new job.

Blue Devils down Raiders 7-6 in overtime

BELLE GLADE-Sandy Hyneeman, second year head football coach at Pahokee High School isn't one to smile a lot, but he sure had reason to Friday night after the Devils without attack late in the fourth quarter to win the Glades Area Classic in overtime.

The Devils were favored Glades Central, and dropped the Raiders' season to 5-4 under first year head coach Dan Brown.

The Devils also are 5-4 for the season will close out the 1982 season Friday with a home game against Santaluces High School. The Devils hope for post-season play was eliminated when they lost to Clewiston High School on Oct. 15.

The Raiders also are also out of the playoffs. Cardinal Newman defeated the Raiders and will represent District 13 AAA in the playoffs.

The Devils win Friday night, means they retained possession of the Graham Frost Trophy. Frost, a former athletic director at Glades Central High School donated the trophy in 1980 to replace the retired Bill Young Memorial Trophy.

The Devils have won the Glades Football Classic the last three years.

Defense highlighted the night as Pahokee and Glades Central played to a scoreless tie during regulation play.

Neither team mounted much of a threat during regulation play as both squads failed to penetrate each other's 30-yard-line.

Turnovers also were prevalent at the Blue Devils gave away five and the Raiders gave up three.

During the overtime period, Pahokee won the toss and elected to be on offense. The Devils started on the Raiders 10 yard line and needed only one play to take the ball into the end zone.

Senior fullback Jeff Mullins drove off right tackle and powered into the end zone to break the scoreless tie. Junior Richard Lyndale then kicked the extra point that proved to be the margin of victory for the Blue Devils.

Glades Central then had its turn with the ball and took over on the Pahokee 10. The Raiders needed all four of its chances, moving only to the Pahokee four on its first three downs.

On fourth and goal, Raider quarterback Eric Smith found Arthur Burnett alone in the end zone to put Glades Central on the scoreboard.

The Raiders then elected to go for a two point conversion and the victory, but when Smith ran a keeper to the right side, he was stopped by junior safety Jerome Power inches from the goal.

Following the game, members of the Pahokee team happy over their win over the Raiders on the Raiders' turf, raced round Glades Central field carrying the Graham Frost Trophy.

The Blue Devils also lifted Coach Hyneeman high on their shoulders with the Graham Frost Trophy in celebration of their victory.

Coach Hyneeman sited defensive coordinator Eddie Rhodes, and senior fullback, Jeff Mullins as unsung heroes.

THE BLUE DEVILS won the Glades Cup again by beating the Glades Central Raiders 7-6 in overtime last Friday.

GDS downs Terriers

BELLE GLADE-The Glades Day School Gators beat the Moore Haven Terriers to up their 1982 district 7A record to a perfect 3-0 Friday, November 12.

The Terriers fall 28-0 while the Gator defense held them to just 114 total yards.

The Gator offense exploded for 203 yards in the ground and 190 in the air.

Raul Garcia threw two touchdown passes and Jose Perez ran the ball in twice for TDs.

In the first period, Perez ran in from the four yard line to score the first points of the game.

The kick by Mike Schlechter failed but the Gators were ahead 6-0.

They expanded their lead in the second when Perez again took the ball in this time from the two yard line.

Davey Haynes took the ball in for the two-point conversion, and the Gators were up 14-0.

Before the half ended, Brian Lohmann and Garcia teamed up to give the Gators a 21-0 lead. Garcia threw a 32 yard pass to Lohman who picked up the TD. Schlechter's kick was good.

In the third quarter, the Gators Jessie Lee caught an 18 yard touchdown pass and Schlechter added the extra-point to put the Gators up 28-0. The game ended with that score.

The Terriers were indeed the Gators' second line twice. In the first quarter, they closed to within eight yards of the goal line when the Gator defense shut them down. The Gators took over the ball and drove 92 yards to score their first TD.

In the second the Terriers again closed to within ten before the Gators took the ball over on downs.

Garcia completed six ten passes for 171 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted once. Brian Lohmann also threw from the halfback position for a complete.

Jose Perez was the Gators' leading rusher carrying the ball eight times for a total of 63 yards and two touchdowns. Brian Lohmann was the team's defensive standout, intercepting the Terriers once, and making six unassisted tackles and five assists.

"We're proud of them, the way they bounced back and beat Moore Haven 21 to nothing after losing 33 to 6 to Frostproof last week," said Coach Byron Walker. "They played a much better defensive ball game, and we're going to have to maintain that defensive play. It's nice to have a good offense, but to win the state championship, you have to have a good defense."

This week, the Gators go up against Melbourne Central at home. A Gator victory would be especially pleasing to Walker and the Gators. Not only would it end the regular season in winning fashion, it would give Walker his 50th victory since taking over the team six seasons ago. Walker is 14-14 since taking the reins of the team.

"We're proud of it, and it's not just my opinion," said Walker. "A lot of people have put a lot of effort into it."

Melbourne Central is 8-1 coming into tomorrow night's game with its district title already clinched.

"They're a much better balanced team than any we've faced all year," said Walker. "They have the ability to run and pass. It's gonna be a challenge for us."

"We just want to be aggressive, put pressure on their passing game and shut them down inside of their defensive line. They like to run the ball over the inside on you."

The game starts at 8 p.m. at Glades Day School Friday, November 18.

Jr. Raiders travel

BELLE GLADE-The Junior Raiders of the City of Belle Glade Recreation Department Youth Flag football league will travel to the Florida Classic Saturday courtesy of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

The Florida Classics held in Tampa is the annual Bethune Cookman vs Florida A and M game. Many area alumni of the two universities attending the game annually.

Lonnie Devose, head coach of the team, said approximately 20 youth along with the coaching staff will be making the trip.

The team is sponsored by Rumpf and Smith Incorporated and presently sports a 9-3 record in their division.

Devose said the youth flag football season commenced in September and the final game will held in December.

Players and coaches making the trip will be Tyrone Arnett, Ray Golden, Peter Edwards, Dwayne Rumph, Javin Walker, David Coffie, Andre Walker, Ronald Hobbs, Gregory Coffie, Daniel Wilke, Michael Brown, Edward Blackman, Che Roberts, Elijah Thomas, Eric Clemons, Daryl Taylor, Tim Rumph, Michael McCatty, Van Brown, Eric Taylor, Wyndi

Darville, Christopher Rhodes, Rodney Rumph, Jeffery Griffin and Lonnie Devose.

CDS loses 12-0 to LaBelle

BELLE GLADE-The Belle Glade Christian Crusaders dropped their final game of the season 12-0 to LaBelle, but they finished the 1982 season with their best ever record on the gridiron.

A victory three weeks ago sealed the Crusaders' first season over .500.

LaBelle scored its first points in the second play of the game.

Cowboy Quarterback Ricky Bass hit Ricky Cooper with a 59-yard touchdown pass. The extra-point was blocked, but LaBelle was ahead 12-0.

A field goal would have been enough to win the game because the Crusaders never got anything in the second.

In the second quarter, the Crusaders drove the ball to the 29 yard line before losing the ball on a fumble. That play took quarterback Alex Morales out of the game with a pulled hamstring.

In the third period, the Crusaders drove from their own 42 to the Cowboys' 32 before they were stopped. Those two drives were the only real offensive drives the Crusaders had all night.

In the last quarter, the Cowboys scored the last six points of the game. Joey Johnson ran a 49 yards to give the Cowboys a 12-0 victory.

LaBelle dominated the game in every department. The Crusaders were held to just 52 yards in the first and five completions in 18 attempts.

LaBelle picked up 64 yards in the air and completed just two of nine attempts.

The Crusaders lost 22 yards in 32 carries on the ground, while the Cowboys gained 129 yards in 38 carries.

Christian Day lost three of six fumbles and were intercepted once while the Cowboys lost one of four fumbles and were also intercepted once.

Christian Day did come out on top in penalties. The Crusaders were penalized five times for a total of 25 yards and the Cowboys were set back a total of 70 yards in eight penalties.

James Barnwell was the Crusaders' leading rusher with 13 yards gained in five carries.

Robert Echols received three passes for 33 yards gained.

Mirto Vigos gained 24 yards in two receptions.

The game starts at 8 p.m. at Glades Day School Friday, November 18.

Pahokee honor society sponsors food drive

PAHOKEE—The national Honor Society of Pahokee High School is sponsoring a "food drive" for needy families in the community.

According to Tiffany Brunson, President of the honor society, all students attending the local high school are asked to bring a can of food to their homeroom class. The National Honor Society members will collect these cans and keep a class count. The final collection will be Thursday, Nov. 19.

Miss Brunson said a local organization will distribute the food in time for Thanksgiving. Sheila Chambers, a member of the national honor society said the Food Drive is the group's community service project for this school year.

National Honor Society members coordinating the projects along with Miss Brunson are David Donovan, Mike McLain, Jeff Pitts, Sheila Chambers, Duane Pace, Winsome Benjamin, Mary Crosby, and Kevin Moore.

Mrs. Nora Radcliffe is serving as the faculty advisor for the National Honor Society.

The Pahokee Woman's Club held installation of new members at their regular meeting last Wednesday. New members installed are left to right, Rita Williams, Lisa Adams, Sherri Herring, Belinda Thompson, Mattie Sullivan and Doris Donovan.

Pahokee women have Thanksgiving luncheon

Ada Bush presented the program at the annual Thanksgiving luncheon of the Pahokee Woman's Club on November 10.

Bush, a former president of the club, shared some of the facts of her recent trip to seven European countries. She illustrated her talk with colored slides which she, her daughter Becky, and son John, took as they toured France, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and England.

The luncheon featured the traditional Thanksgiving menu with turkey, dressing and all the trimmings. A cornucopia filled with fall fruits centered the speaker's table. Decorations in the clubhouse were ceramic turkeys and arrangements in autumn shades of yellow, gold and brown.

Hostesses for the occasion were Louise Adams, Wanda Barnes, Cathy Cottle, Edith Cowan, Katherine Fountain, Judy Gallo, Julia Mathis, Bess McIlwain, Martha McIntosh and Olla Vene Weeks.

The next meeting will be a business session on Nov. 17, when final plans will be made for the "Goodies from Mrs. Clark Kitchen" event, which will be held at the Woman's Club building on Saturday, December 4.

even if it costs each city $1,000, it would be "cheaper."

Altman agreed, adding that the estimated 300 people who come over for the event have to drive over state road 80 or 98, making that more money for policy makers aware of the condition of the roads.

The Tri-City League also discussed the different boards the area has representation on and Altman asked for the cities in the league to find people to serve on the boards and committees.

"We'll lose our representation when a seat normally reserved for someone from the Glades becomes vacant and no one wants to take it," said Altman. "That's when our goodwill goes done the tubes."

The discussion of the Solid Waste Authority and the Glades Budget and Advisory Committee of the Authority brought the most participation from the members of the league.

Altman said the Glades would benefit immediately from the establishment of a reclamations site somewhere in the county because it would result in lower tipping fees.

A centrally located reclamation garbage removal site would mean the authority would be operating on one unit instead of the present set-up of several units.

Until then, Altman said the tipping fees will probably increase.

"Chances are probable that tipping fees at the (Glades) transfer station will increase because the Glades cities will be haul to coast landfills when the local sites close," he said.

The Belle Glade and Pahokee land fills are in the closeout process right now.

Harrelle recommended that the authority consider hauling Glades garbage from the Okeechobee landfill. "It is nearer to the coast."

Altman agreed, but added that the authority must get a "decent tipping fee" from Okeechobee to do that to be viable.

Altman, who sits on both the Waste Authority and the Glades Budget and Advisory Committee, invited Padolet to send a representative to the meeting because the authority's policies will affect the city.

Pahokee doesn't have a vote in the policies of the board because it didn't sign the agreement.

"Oh, we're spending about $2,500 a month now, so we do have an interest with it," said Padgett.

Commissioner Morris suggested the project was named chairman of a committee to look into the project.

Morris said he felt the city should do something for its citizens during the holiday season.

"I'm not talking about a select group, but for every senior citizen in the community," he said.

Morris said he hopes to solicit donations from community groups and businesses to finance the project.

Commission:

*James Brewer, area manager of Jones Interlaced addressed several complaints lodged against the cable company by several of the Commissioners.

Commissioner Remnick Morris told Brewer he has received numerous complaints from senior citizens about the cable company.

Morris said many of the citizens expressed to him, some stations are not being received, the reception is poor on several stations and service calls are not being answered.

Brewer said the local company was having problems with Channel 5 several weeks ago, but the problem has been corrected.

"Most of the problems can be taken care of," said Brewer. "The problem is that many on many occasions when the service meg go to answer call no. one is at home and the repairs can not be made," he said.

Brewer added within the last year, the number of complaints have dropped tremendously. He said on the average last year, 100 to 120 calls came in per week. "The cable company averages approximately 80 calls per week presently," he said.

He also told the Commission 75 percent of all calls received are serviced the same day.

The Commission also agreed to look into the feasibility of giving Christmas baskets to the elderly in the community.

Commissioner Morris suggested the project was named chairman of a committee to look into the project.

Morris said he felt the city should do something for its citizens during the holiday season.

"I'm not talking about a select group, but for every senior citizen in the community," he said.

Morris said he hopes to solicit donations from community groups and businesses to finance the project.

Authority may install doors

PAHOKEE — The Pahokee Housing Authority may have new doors installed on its units by an authority employee or by an outside employee.

The employee is a carpenter, according to Executive Director Randall J. Mills.

Mills said he will talk to the individual before deciding whether to have the door installed by the employee or by an outside employee.

"If we're going just save money to get a sloppy job, then it's not worth it," said Authority Commissioner Murray Brinson.

Man dies in car accident

A single car accident Sunday, November 14, at a 50-year-old Bell Glade resident died.

According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, Charles B. Stewart, 50, of 340 NW 11th Street, was driving on a private road owned by Pahokee Produce Inc., just off U.S. 98, when his car veered into a canal. He couldn't escape from his seat.

A passenger, Johnny B. Stewart, 19, of the same address, escaped.

Hendry 4-Hers win national meat judging championship

It's official. They're the best in the nation. The Hendry County 4-H meat judging team last week won the national title in the pork, beef and lamb judging and Identification Contest held in Kansas City.

The team of Dena Brown, Susan Cotton, Sandy Parsons and Tammy Parsons also placed third in beef judging, third in total judging, fifth in meat identification and finished as the fourth ranked team in the nation overall. Brown and Cotton are from Clewiston and Sandy and Tammy Parsons are from LaBelle, Alabama was the top ranked team, with Illinois in second place and Virginia in third. There were 17 states represented in the contest.

In addition to the team win, Sandy Parsons was named as the top individual pork judge and overall meat judge in the nation. Sandy also placed fourth in beef judging and eighth in the overall individual contest standings.

Susan Cotton won the national championship in individual meat identification. She had a perfect score in the contest, marking the first time any contestant has ever earned a perfect score.

She also ranked fourth in the individual overall contest standings.

Tammy Parsons placed sixth in the pork judging division.

The national contest was the culmination of nearly eight months of dedicated study and learning by the group. The youngsters had to learn how to identify over 200 retail cuts of beef, pork, lamb, as well as, how to select or judge beef carcasses, pork carcasses, wholesale cuts of beef and pork, and retail cuts of beef and pork.

"It was an enormous task, but these girls came through like the champs they proved to be," said Dallas Townsend, county agricultural extension director.

The national contest has two major parts, as indictated earlier. Meat judging and meat identification. The meat judging is divided into three parts: beef, pork and lamb judging. This year, meat judging consisted of a class of carcasses and a class of rounds. Pork judging included classes of carcasses and hams. The retail judging had a class of pork chops and a class of beef rib roasts.

In addition to judging the above classes, the team members had to defend their decisions on three classes by giving oral reasons to the judges. Sandy Parsons achieved a rare perfect score with her reasons on pork hams.

The meat identification part included 30 retail cuts of beef, pork, and lamb. The contestants had to indicate the animal, wholesale cut, retail name, type of cut, and basic cooking method.

"I think it is important to note that this was the first time a Florida 4-H meat judging team or individual has captured a national title in this contest," Townsend said.

Historical society takes tour of reservation

Some 30 members and friends of the Calusa Valley Historical Society toured Brighton Indian Reservation Saturday morning and heard a short talk on its history given by Ralph Wadlow of Fort Myers.

Wadlow was in charge of developing suitable pasture land on the reservation soon after it was established in 1935. At the time, he was an agent for the US Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The early Creekies who came to Brighton, Wadlow said, did not want to live in houses and built chicken on hammocks. The Indians knew they were susceptible to tuberculosis and that living indoors was not healthy for them.

"The mortality rate was horrible among children at the time," Wadlow said.

In the early days the tribe had existed by hunting alligators and raccoons and drying the hides. However, when a drought hit the Southwest, the government bought up cattle and shipped them to Big Cypress.

The cattle, whiteface Herefords, were offered to the Indians on a "lend lease" basis, according to Wadlow — after a ten-year period, the Indians were to pay back an equal number of cattle with cows and heifers representing the "interest."

Because the natural vegetation could not support cattle, Wadlow was sent by the government to help the Indian Cattlemen's Association establish pastures.

Wadlow recalled the first school that opened on the reservation. Children up to the age of six were to attend but when the school opened, "Grandmas, grandpas, and everyone" went to school, Wadlow said.

Billy Osceola was one of the first boys educated at Brighton who went on to school and became a Baptist preacher. Wadlow said he had attended the first Christian church service conducted by the Indians at Brighton.

Wadlow also spoke about Lonnie Buck, whose grandmother had been among the Indians relocated from the Lake Okeechobee area to Oklahoma in the round-up known as the Trail of Tears.

The family had actually settled in Arkansas and became cotton farmers. During the days of the depression and the "dust bowl," Buck remembered his grandmother's tales of Florida — how it was warm and there was game for food.

Wadlow told of Buck's arriving at Brighton after having walked from Arkansas.

Buck subsequently urged the Brighton residents to register to vote and led them in demanding roads be built on the reservation. Wadlow said he could remember driving a Model A Ford through Brighton when the water came up to the hubcaps.

A bus tour of the reservation was arranged for the visitors who were also shown a film on the progress and aims of the Indians who live in Florida.

EARLY DAYS at Brighton Reservation were described by Fort Myers who helped create pasture land for the cattle industry during the late 1930s.

THE SITE OF BILLY BOWLEGGS camp was among the Brighton Reservation spots toured by Calusa Valley Historical Association members and guests Saturday. A leader of the Seminoles, Billy Bowlegs, helped establish a peaceful relationship between the whites and the Indians. At the dedication of the Hoover Dike, Billy Bowlegs was the tribal representative.

ASCS offers farmers advice, assistance

By BILL BRYANT

After the dust storms in the arid regions of the United States during the 1930s, the United States government realized the importance of soil and water conservation. Subsequently, the Agricultural Adjustment and Conservation Service (ASCS) was established under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to assist farmers and ranchers in establishing conservation practices.

"We (ASCS) are a service organization," said James B. Hughes, ASCS executive director for Hendry and Collier Counties. "Service is our main thing."

Hughes explained that ASCS administers agricultural product price support programs and soil and water conservation programs.

Currently, he noted, the federal government is calling for reduced acreage for feed grains, including corn, wheat, grain sorghum, barley, and oats in order to reduce surpluses.

"The government wants to work out surpluses in feed grains to bring prices up so the farmer can make a buck," Hughes said.

However, he pointed out that under the government's program to reduce feed grain acreage, the farmer or rancher is required to establish conservation practices on the land not planted in feed grains to qualify for financial assistance from the government. Conservation practices include planting terraces, permanent grasses or establishing wildlife habitats, according to Hughes.

He said the government would finance 35 to 40 percent of the cost of converting the land to conservation up to a maximum amount of $3,500.

Permanent vegetation is preferred and the government will cost-share planting the land every five years, according to Hughes.

Vegetative cover helps prevent water runoff and the water soaks in better on land with vegetative cover, Hughes said.

He said the ASCS hopes to see more legumes planted. Legumes add nitrogen to the soil, which enables farmers and ranchers to use less fertilizer.

Hughes explained that wind and water erosion of the soil South Florida is not a major problem because of the flatness of the terrain. However, he noted that water runoff from agricultural lands into the state's freshwater lakes and rivers is a "major problem."

According to Hughes, the water from agricultural lands contains a lot of nitrogen and phosphorus. "When the water flows into rivers and lakes, it causes an increase in aquatic vegetation, which depletes the oxygen needed by fish. It will also eventually pollute the water," he added.

"The big problem of the future in Florida is providing enough drinking water for the projected population," Hughes said, adding that "there is a lot of water now, but it (the water supply) runs in cycles. Eventually, there will be another drought in South Florida."

He emphasized that one of the long-range goals of the ASCS is to utilize only the amount of water necessary to irrigate farm crops.

"I think one day most all the citrus areas in Florida will go to low-volume irrigation in order to conserve water and reduce costs," Hughes said.

He added: "As more people move to South Florida, we're going to need more water."

"If we don't conserve top soil and water now," he continued, "what will our children have to eat?"

"People have got to have food. We've got to protect our soil and water resources to do it."

For further information about price support and conservation programs, farmers and ranchers can contact Hughes at 983-7250 or go to the ASCS office on U.S. Highway 27 west in Clewiston.

GLADES CENTRAL STUDENT WINS
Chamber of Commerce slogan contest. Ed Foley, president of the Beautification Committee presented Pat Sanders the first place trophy Monday. Looking on are Mrs. Sonja Lutz, an English instructor at Glades Central and Mrs. Jewel Crane, executive secretary of the chamber.

Chamber clean-up slogan winner

BELLE GLADE-Pat Sanders, a senior at Glades Central School won the annual Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Clean-up slogan contest.

Miss Sanders winning entry reads:

Citizen! Join the race. Help Tidy Tim put trash in its place.

Ed Foley, chairman of the Beautification Committee said more than 100 entries were received.

Miss Sanders entered the contest on the recommendation of her English teacher, Mrs. Sonja Lutz.

Mr. Foley and the Chamber of Commerce executive secretary presented Miss Sanders with the first place trophy on Monday Nov. 6.

The winner's slogan will be printed on beautification posters which will be distributed throughout the city by the Chamber.

PBJC nutrition classes slated

Two continuing education courses dealing with nutrition will be offered for health professionals at the Belle Glade campus of Palm Beach Junior College during November and December.

"Nutrition and the Diabetic," a four-hour course, will be held Nov. 29 and Dec. 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. in SC103.

The seminar will cover the management of the diabetic patient.

Approved by the American Dietetic Association, the fee for the course is $4. Health professionals will earn four CEUs.

"Nutrition and Alcoholism" will be offered Monday, Dec. 18 from 7 to 10 p.m. in SC103.

Students will explore the metabolism of alcohol and its effects on the nutritional status of the alcoholic. Both classes will be taught by Miriam Shelton, a registered dietitian.

For registration or 439-8012.

City to be re-organized?

BELLE GLADE-The city organization chart may be revised soon.

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman told the city commissioners Monday night, November 8, that he intends to bring the organization chart up for revision at the next meeting.

He said about two years ago he was thinking of the revision, and mentioned it to the commission, but the city was searching for a new city manager and had never brought the subject up again.

National respiratory Week observed

BELLE GLADE-In observance of National Respiratory Therapy Week, November 7 through 13, Dr. Onelio Garcia, Medical Director of the Respiratory Therapy Department at Glades General Hospital, presented the members of the respiratory therapy team corsages on behalf of the hospital.

Dr. Garcia said, respiratory therapy is recognized as one of the most modern and progressive segments of the health care delivery system in the United States.

Respiratory therapists and technicians at Glades General Hospital are involved with therapeutic and life sustaining cardio pulmonary care to patients suffering from lung and associated health problems.

The staff works closely with patients who have respiratory problems. They a.

work with patients who, because of a condition associated with a disease process of trauma, require ventilator management.

Kenneth Lazere, Supervisor of the Respiratory Therapy Department, said there are eight thousand respiratory practitioners in the nation who are making an important contribution to the delivery of quality health care.

In recent years, the field of Respiratory Therapy has been expanded to include post-operative pulmonary care, education, research, pulmonary testing, pulmonary rehabilitation and neonatal pulmonary specialists.

Members of the Respiratory Therapy staff at Glades General Hospital include Kenneth Lazere, Mary Jackson, Margaret Hevey, Sandra Petty, Harriet Strope and Eartha Tanks.

Migrant meeting set

WEST PALM BEACH-There will be a Chapter I: Basic and Migrant Program Districtwide Parent Council Meeting at the Marin Academy Training Center, across from Building 802 at the Central Office of the

PBJC Criminal Justice Department recognized

Palm Beach Junior College's Criminal Justice Department was honored at a recent Board of Trustees meeting by the Palm Beach County Association of Chiefs of Police.

The police organization presented a resolution commending Dr. Edward M. Eissey, PBJC president; Joe Macay, Criminal Justice Chairman, the administration and staff for "outstanding service to the law enforcement community of Palm Beach County."

PBJC offers many technical and professional training courses throughout the year to all 1300 full-time sworn police officers, 300 auxiliary members, and 235 corrections officers in the county.

Each year, about 200 new police officers are certified through one of PBJC's five police academies. There are 16 seminars a year for certification, operation of breathalyzer and radar equipment.

The college also holds 16 special training courses (30 hours each) and 20 career development seminars (60 hours each) per year.

The resolution was signed by Chiefs D. Bill Matich, Belle Glade, president of the Association of Chiefs of Police, and Terizasse, Palm Beach, vice president.

cannot buy her security or health.

The real goodness, the joys of life do not depend on security and health. The joy comes from accepting God's love and loving our families and friends in turn.

This love is based on the steadfast, unconditional, spontaneous love which God shows us in Christ.

Christ's love has been the turning point of the world but it has been all but forgotten. Christ's love has been the only salvation of man.

Mankind - you and I - need God's love in our hearts and lives to keep on the right track morally so we can be able to live with our families and friends.

Under the stress of today's problems and pressures we need a motivation which is bigger than all these put together. Christ in His life and death has given us such an indictment for overcoming spiritually all that blocks our lives and obscures our vision.

When we face our problems we want to solve them ourselves or go to a specialist. Really we don't want to meet God and His love.

Stand forward in faith and accept a love which is strong and unchangeable, and will give you strength to do all things.

and when it is in many ways. We don't act like we know God loves us because we don't demonstrate it in our lives and toward others.

We are thought of as a free nation but we are not. We are not free of responsibility to the rest of the world. Our homes are more or less built on a sense of responsibility.

As individuals we are slaves to security. Our incomes are tied up with insurance programs and house payments. Most of our time is involved in making our lives physically and financially secure.

A woman whose husband is a multi-millionaire has been told she has three heart murmurs. There is nothing that can be done but take rest. Money cannot buy her security or health.

"Taking It From The Top"

by Dr. David T. Evans

cannot buy her security or health.

Thank goodness, the joys of life do not depend on security and health. The joy comes from accepting God's love and loving our families and friends in turn.

This loving is based on the steadfast, unconditional, spontaneous love which God shows us in Christ.

Christ's love has been the turning point of the world but it has been all but forgotten. Christ's love has been the only salvation of man.

Mankind - you and I - need to have God's love in our hearts and lives to keep on the right track morally and to be able to live with our families and friends.

Under the stress of today's problems and pressures we need a motivation which is bigger than all those put together. Christ in His life and death has given us such an inducement for overcoming spiritually all that blocks our lives and obscures our vision.

When we face our problems we want to solve them ourselves or give up. Christ. Really we don't want to trust God and His love.

Step forward in faith and accept a love which is eternal and unchangeable, and will give you strength to do all things.
